

01

To characterise the target environments and use cases as a basis for the development of the methodology as a solution

02

To obtain the set of data and choose the best Soft Computing techniques for pre-processing it, to avoid problems of real world datasets

03

To choose the Soft Computing techniques that suit best to the problem and allow to obtain the best values according to the metrics